

A MESSAGE FROM KYLE

November 12, 2007

To my sponsors,

I wanted to give you all an update of what happened to me last weekend November 4, 2007 at the final WORCS race round.

I was racing the VETB class on Sunday and on the first lap I hit the big step up jump and landed in a big hole at the top which caused me to have a big crash. I was then Air Lifted to Bakersfield CA Kern County Trauma center.

They found that I had broken my Femur on my right leg. I had surgery on the next day Monday. After surgery and getting a rod put in my leg, I had many complications. I had four blood transfusions, a blood clot in my right ankle, my oxygen level was not good and my blood levels were real low. After a full week in the ICU unit I was released. I am home now and in the process of healing my broken leg. They say it should be four weeks before I can even put any pressure on my leg and 6-9 months for recovery.

I just wanted to thank you all for your support and hope we can continue our relationship together once I am back racing again.

Since I ended up getting a DNF for this last race I ended up 2nd in the series for the championship instead of first. I am very bummed about that.

Sincerely,

Kyle Krause #777
